

Main problems encountered:

We didn't know that the beta release would mean a feature lock. Therefore we allocated time for certain tasks that shouldn't have been prioritised (due to them not being features) and we failed to allocate time for other tasks that should have been prioritised. To fix this problem we decided to change our planning through adding higher priority tasks throughout the week.

Adjustments:

We do not have any concrete adjustments to be made this week as we haven't found many main problems. The feature lock issue was a one time thing which, even though we will be more wary of this in the future, we do not need to adjust for.
